

Natalie DeSouza
Rita Sridaran
Summer Enrichment 2007

Autism S.T.A.R. (Autism Social Training and Awareness Resource) was a summer camp for children with Autism in eastern North Carolina that focused on social skills training and helped the children transition back into the school year. Forty children ages 5-14 years old were involved in the program, and the six week camp was held in three different cities in Eastern NC from July to August of 2007. It was the first summer camp of its kind in Eastern NC. With the help of TEACCH (Treatment and Education of Autistic and Communication-Handicapped Children), the Pitt County Chapter of the Autism Society of NC, the Schweitzer Fellowship, and the Summer Enrichment Program, the camp was a great success!

Natalie DeSouza
working with a group of children

Natalie DeSouza
working with a group of children on Ladder Climbing

Rita and Natalie with Supplies